Cassandra Christian

Associate

christian.cassandra@dorsey.com
Minneapolis – 612.492.6983

Cassandra approaches complex legal issues with careful analysis, practical judgment, and a focus on understanding what matters most to each client. She works to distill complicated legal and factual questions into clear, practical strategies that advance her clients' objectives.

Cassandra has a particular interest in healthcare matters, informed by her experience in the healthcare industry before law school and her focus on health law during law school. This background gives her an understanding of the practical and operational considerations that can shape clients' legal issues.

Cassandra also maintains a steady pro bono practice and is committed to using her advocacy skills to serve clients both inside and outside her commercial practice.
