Carsten Greve handles cross-border M&A, private equity, and joint venture transactions for international clients seeking to grow, exit, or transform their businesses.

With a particular focus on transactions connecting the Nordic region to global markets, Carsten brings more than 20 years of corporate transactional experience to clients ranging from large listed Nordic companies to founders, management teams, and institutional investors. He advises on the full lifecycle of a deal — from structuring and negotiation through to completion — across private M&A transactions, private equity-backed buyouts, venture capital transactions, complex corporate reorganisations, and joint ventures.

Carsten regularly guides management teams and founders through some of the most consequential moments in their businesses: a private equity-backed buyout, a sale to a corporate acquirer, or a minority investment that sets the stage for future growth. His client roster spans listed and unlisted corporates institutional investors, and entrepreneurial businesses, and he draws on Dorsey & Whitney's broader network to deliver cross-practice support where deals require it.

Carsten also advises a global sports media business on high-profile corporate transactions across multiple sports, bringing the same transactional rigour to an industry where deal structures and commercial arrangements are often bespoke and fast-moving.

Carsten is a Norwegian speaker and an active member of the Norwegian business community in London. He currently serves as a Council member of the Norwegian British Chamber of Commerce.
