Seattle – 206.903.2454

David reduces friction in capital markets transactions by anticipating and delivering timely guidance covering complex securities laws, exchange requirements, and regulatory frameworks across a range of industries.

David advises growth-stage and established companies on accessing U.S. capital markets, with a particular focus on cross-border transactions involving Canadian issuers. His work centers on public and private offerings, up-listings and cross-listings to the NYSE and Nasdaq markets, and ongoing Securities and Exchange Commission (SEC) reporting obligations.

Select Experience

- Represented NYSE-listed bank in connection with a $150 million subordinated notes offering by a private company.
- Represented a global gold and copper producer on its cross-listing to the NYSE and subsequent registration of employee incentive compensation on Form S-8
- Represented a NYSE American-listed mining and exploration company on its $60 million at-the-market sale facility and ongoing SEC reporting matters.
- Represented a TSX-listed gold mining company on its cross-listing to the NYSE American and ongoing SEC reporting obligations.
