Denver – 303.629.3426

Kendall Lilly helps clients navigate commercial and intellectual property disputes in state and federal court.

She supports trial teams by conducting legal research, preparing memoranda, and drafting pleadings and motions. Kendall previously worked as a summer associate at Dorsey, where she gained experience with intellectual property and other litigation matters.

During law school, Kendall externed for Judge Nina Y. Wang at the U.S. District Court for the District of Colorado and Justice Maria E. Berkenkotter at the Colorado Supreme Court, interned with the U.S. Securities and Exchange Commission (SEC), Enforcement Division, and served as Tenth Circuit Articles Editor of the Denver Law Review. Through these experiences, she gained insight into the work of federal and state courts and the evolving legal issues facing courts and practitioners throughout the Tenth Circuit.

Before law school, Kendall worked at the U.S. Attorney's Office for the District of Wyoming, the Arizona Court of Appeals, and in private legal practice.
