Lauren Baker keeps public finance transactions on track — from first filing to final transcript — so deals can close on time.

Lauren brings precision and momentum to every public finance engagement she supports at Dorsey & Whitney. Working alongside attorneys serving as bond counsel, , Lauren manages the full lifecycle of tax-exempt and taxable bond financings for municipal clients — from drafting and filing proceedings to assembling the official project transcript that closes the deal.

Much of Lauren's focus is on financings structured through the State Revolving Fund (SRF) and the U.S. Department of Agriculture (USDA), programs that carry distinct procedural and documentation requirements. She coordinates due diligence collection, monitors deadlines across concurrent matters, and maintains project files so that nothing falls through the cracks on complex, multi-party transactions.
