Zhibiao (Patrick) Peng structures cross-border mergers and acquisitions, and venture capital financings, helping clients bridge U.S. and Chinese markets.

Patrick advises emerging growth and middle-market companies, as well as fund managers, on the full range of corporate transactions that define a company's trajectory. His practice centers on mergers and acquisitions, joint ventures, venture capital financings, commercial agreements, and corporate governance — with particular depth in deals that cross jurisdictions or involve regulatory complexity such as Committee on Foreign Investment in the United States (CFIUS) review. In addition to corporate work, Patrick also advises clients on business immigration strategies to facilitate cross-border talent mobility in connection with their corporate transactions.

What distinguishes Patrick's approach is his ability to counsel clients on both sides of the Pacific. He advises domestic and international clients on acquisition and divestiture strategies, deal structuring, post-closing integration, and related regulatory matters — drawing on direct experience with People's Republic of China (PRC)-related capital markets and fund formation work in mainland China. That cross-border fluency translates into practical guidance when transaction structures need to account for multiple regulatory environments simultaneously.
